

RULES THAT GOVERN YMCA COMPETITIVE SPORTS

Everyone wants, and should have, an equal opportunity to compete and a fair chance to win. Rules are needed to specify conditions that must be met by all players, coaches, managers, and administrators.

The following rules apply to closed formal YMCA sports competition. When a YMCA athlete or team enters open competition, the eligibility requirements of the governing body of the sport concerned apply.

These rules provide definitions and procedures for holding sports competitions.

We look to the integrity of the player, coach, manager, and administrator to follow the spirit of the rules developed for healthy competitive sports in a Christian setting. Lapses in this spirit may be considered on an individual basis.

FAIR PLAY

Interpretation of the “Rules That Govern YMCA Competitive Sports” is based on the fair play concept. The YMCA believes that fair play is the very essence of competition. This fundamental virtue is a special attribute of sport and inherent in it. Competition should be marked by a spirit of truth and honesty, with strict observance of all rules, whether written or unwritten. Fair play implies respect for oneself, one’s opponent, and others involved in conducting the competition. Players, coaches, officials, and spectators share a responsibility for fair play: Fair play sets the game above the prize.

Competition can provide an excellent means of developing a predisposition to play fairly. As this virtue develops, it can influence behavior in everyday life. It is for the development of such virtues that the YMCA promotes competitive sports.

CHARACTER DEVELOPMENT IN YMCA SPORTS

Values are basic beliefs about what is good or ought to be, that actually serve as guidelines for decision making and action. Values education is the process of helping people develop values, becoming conscious of those values, and using them to make decisions.

The YMCA believes that character development, focusing on the values of caring, honesty, respect, and responsibility, is an essential element of its sports program.

Caring: To love others and be sensitive to the well being of others involved in the sports program.

Honesty: To have integrity, making sure that one’s actions match one’s values through participation in sports.

Respect: To value the worth of every person, including oneself, one’s teammates, opponents, and officials.

Responsibility: To be accountable for one’s behavior and obligations.

YMCAs have a responsibility for training staff, volunteers and participants to be sensitive to the appropriate values which may be developed through sport, and to create an environment conducive to character development.

Questions about sanction procedures should be addressed to the Program Development Division of the YMCA of the USA.
